

VEGETATION MANAGEMENT NOTICE "The Preserve" (Faria Preserve Property)

Dear Neighbor,

You are receiving this notice because your home is adjacent to the subject area or because you are a homeowner at The Preserve and should be aware that goats are being brought into the Community for the specific purpose of vegetation management in conformance with the requirements of the San Ramon Valley Fire Protection District.

Vegetative management for fire prevention is an essential service and operations will be conducted in accordance with the Fire Protection District and Contra Costa County Health Services.

Similar to last year, Lennar will be using goats to reduce the vegetation in a 100'-wide area along the perimeter of the property. The goats will be controlled by fencing and managed by professional herders so they do not roam off the property. You may have seen similar vegetation management by goats in the East Bay Regional Park District parks, other open space, or in this area last year. The professional herders may post signs requesting that domestic pets not be allowed to approach the goats. We ask that adults and children also not approach, attempt to pet or feed the goats. The goats will remain on the property days, nights and weekends, and the herders may also remain on the property, to ensure the safety and security of the goats. Both the herders and Lennar will be respectful of your property and privacy. Additionally, in some areas, it may be necessary to supplement this abatement via the use of hand held equipment by laborers contracted by Lennar.

The vegetation management is scheduled to commence immediately and is anticipated to be completed by May 31st.
